National Geographic magazine recognized this area of Costa Rica as one of the most biologically diverse in the world. In fact, bio-corridors known locally as "monkey highways" run throughout the area.

The locals are tremendous hosts of the culture and you are invited by them to become a part of it and to feel welcome. Local ice cream parlors, soccer fields and weekly farmer's market, all add to the truly authentic feel of the area.

Costa Rica's Pacific Coast boasts the world's finest sportfishing. Expect Roosterfish, Mahi-Mahi, Jack Creavella, Snapper and Mackerel to complete your catch. The offshore drop off points will provide good numbers of Amberjack, Snapper, Tuna, Black/Blue Marlin and all the Sail Fish you can imagine.
