In

In the Museumsufer there are a cluster of 12 museums . There are various types of museums, as you might expect, that included film, art, architecture, communications, and ethnography – just to name a few.

The buildings that house these museums are equally varied. There are patrician houses, grand buildings that were built especially for the museum by famous architects, and buildings of many designs from the area.

The Frankfurt Goethe House, birthplace of Germany's most famous author and poet, Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, was built in typical 18th-century bourgeois style. It is decorated with period furniture and paintings, providing an authentic and striking impression of the environment in which Goethe spent his youth.

He lived in this house until he was 16 and returned for long periods of time between his studies in Leipzig and Strasbourg. It was during this time that he wrote "The Sorrows of Young Werther". The house was damaged in the war but has been restored to how it might have looked when Goethe lived here.

Attached to the house is a museum of Romantic Art, which is appropriate for Goethe's youthful period of "Sturm und Drang".

Deutsches Filmmuseum

This German Film Museum is extremely interesting, in that it offers a unique spin on the essence of film making through history with particular focuses on such topics as the technological origins and development of cinema. This is well maneuvered from the beginning in 1895 through the addition of sound in film in the 1930's and on through time to the 21st. century today.

For those who are interested in a career in moviemaking, this film museum precisely delivers the elements of how a director is able to tell a story using film medium presentations.

Famous German film figures are featured in the museum, such as Kubrick, Rainer Werner Fassbinder and Romy Schneider.

What's a film museum without films? Here in the museum, there are two screening rooms for films. One cinema screens artistically significant films classics, while the other screens silent films accompanied by a live musical performance on a Wurlitzer Pipe Organ.

This museum contains a delightful combination of sculpture from Ancient Egypt, Greece and Rome to the more European styles of Romanesque, Gothic, Renaissance, Baroque, along with Neoclassical influences. You will also find some archeological fragments from Gothic Tombs.

Frankfort's Museum of Applied Arts is an inspired building by the American Architect, Richard Meier. This bright, airy gallery was inspired by Le Corbusier's International Style. It contains textiles, paintings, furniture and porcelain from the 1100s to the 2000s. There are also some lovely pieces from China, and Japan. There is a focus on specific periods, where entire rooms of the Villa Metzler have been decorated in the given style, such as Art Nouveau and Baroque.

Breakfast in the Castle.

After breakfast, meet your private English-speaking driver and professional local guide in the lobby of your hotel for your morning trip to UNESCO World Heritage Site; “Limes”. Explore the Limes border defence and be at one with Roman history. The Limes is worldwide the longest historical monument (after the Great Wall of China).

Discover the border of one of the greatest empires ever and enjoy the breathtaking views.

Frontiers of the Roman Empire

The 'Roman Limes' represents the border line of the Roman Empire at its greatest extent in the 2nd century AD. It stretched over 5,000 km from the Atlantic coast of northern Britain, through Europe to the Black Sea, and from there to the Red Sea and across North Africa to the Atlantic coast.

The remains of the Limes today consist of vestiges of built walls, ditches, forts, fortresses, watchtowers and civilian settlements. Certain elements of the line have been excavated, some reconstructed and a few destroyed. The two sections of the Limes in Germany cover a length of 550 km from the north-west of the country to the Danube in the south-east. The 118-km-long Hadrian's Wall (UK) was built on the orders of the Emperor Hadrian c. AD 122 at the northernmost limits of the Roman province of Britannia.

It is a striking example of the organization of a military zone and illustrates the defensive techniques and geopolitical strategies of ancient Rome. The Antonine Wall, a 60-km long fortification in Scotland was started by Emperor Antonius Pius in 142 AD as a defense against the "barbarians" of the north. It constitutes the northwestern-most portion of the Roman Limes.

— TRANSFORMING DREAMS INTO MEMORIES —

After the tour of the Limes, you will continue your day by heading over to the Old Sachsenhausen.

Lunch is on your own today in Old Sachsenhausen. Your Guide will offer suggestions for dining in this village.

For hundreds of years the District of Sachsenhausen included the Village. It was a separate district from Frankfort. It was still granted the protection of Frankfort's great wall with its 9 towers.

The village District originally, was a farming community, serving Frankfort with its fish, fruits and vegetables. In the midst of the 16th century, after the little Ice Age, things changed a bit. The vineyards were replaced with apple orchards and wine was replaced with cider (Aplefelwein). The taverns transitioned from grape wine to apple wine (cider).

There's nothing elegant about the old Hessian specialty, green sauce, but you do have to give this condiment a try when you're in Frankfurt as it's delicious.

Celebration

· ESCAPES ·

— TRANSFORMING DREAMS INTO MEMORIES —

The sauce has a thick consistency and an egg base, and that green tone comes from its seven fresh herbs: Parsley, borage, chervil, chives, burnet, cress and sorrel. Green sauce always comes with boiled potatoes and hard-boiled eggs. IT is typically served along-side a beef dish.

Apparently, it was also Goethe's favorite dish, so you'll be in good company. A must try when in Frankfort, but particularly here.

After Lunch, your guide will give you many interesting tidbits about this village and district. One of the most interesting elements of the life here is their love of fountains. You will stroll through the village and see the delightful fountains and a whole way of life that takes you back in time and far from the bustling city life.

The center of the apple wine quarter is the Klappergasse with the famous Frau Rauscher fountain. At irregular intervals it spits out water, sometimes catching inattentive pedestrians. In no other neighborhood are there as many working fountains as in Sachsenhausen.

Residents of the district celebrate this every summer with a fountain festival with a large programme, a procession and voting for a fountain queen. The festival was mentioned as early as 1490; residents celebrated after the annual cleaning of their drinking water fountains.

After your tour, you will be returned to your hotel for the evening. You will be at leisure to relax in the hotel or continue exploring on your own.

Dinner is on your own tonight. See Celebration Escapes' Restaurant Collection for recommendations for dining in Frankfort.

Day 4 Frankfort: – Frankfort

Breakfast in the Castle.

— TRANSFORMING DREAMS INTO MEMORIES —

After breakfast, meet your private English-speaking driver and professional local guide in the lobby of your hotel for your morning tour to the historical quarter of Frankfurt and the Römerberg Square. This square is considered the most beautiful square in Frankfurt. The historical old town center, including its splendid half-timbered houses, was rebuilt according to the original plans in 1986.

It now represents a classic example of the traditional half-timbered architectural style of times gone by. Every single house bears its own name. In the 17th century, the corner house, named "Grosser Engel", became the home of Frankfurt's first bank.

At the heart of the Altstadt - Frankfurt's old town - you'll find the Römerberg, one of the city's most familiar attractions.

It's home to the Römer, which has been in use as the city hall since the 15th century.

Standing in the square, you'll be forgiven for feeling like you're on a film set at times - it's a postcard-perfect scene of days gone by.

— TRANSFORMING DREAMS INTO MEMORIES —

The Römer

The three stepped gable facades of the Römer are what make the square so instantly recognizable.

The original mediaeval complex has been extended considerably since it was sold to the city council in 1405, with several buildings, courtyards and an ornate balcony added throughout the years.

This has been the backdrop for famous faces like John F. Kennedy, who addressed an adoring crowd here during his groundbreaking visit to Germany in 1963, just the day before giving his famous speech in Berlin.

The Fountain of Justice

The Gerechtigkeitsbrunnen (Fountain of Justice), standing in the centre of the square in front of the Römer, dates back to 1543. Its bronze statue depicts Justitia, the Roman goddess of justice, armed with her sword and scales.

The monument has been renovated several times over the years - according to legend, wine flowed from the fountain at the 16th century coronation of Emperor Matthias, causing a commotion worthy of immediate repairs.

Fairs and festivals

Trade fairs and markets have been held in the Römerberg since the Middle Ages, attracting visiting merchants from all over Europe.

The tradition is continued to this day with Frankfurt's spectacular Christmas market, one of the oldest and largest in Germany.

It's a fairy-tale experience - and a great excuse to sample local delicacies like hot apple wine and Bethmännchen marzipan cookies by the 30-metre-high Christmas tree.

The Ostzeile

On the east side of the Römerberg, you'll find the Ostzeile, a row of six half-timbered houses.

Although most of the original 15th and 16th century buildings were destroyed during the air raids of 1944, the houses on the Ostzeile were faithfully restored during the 1980s.

Each bears its own evocative name, including Große Engel (Great Angel) and Goldener Greif (Golden Griffin).

Haus Wertheim

Only one half-timbered house in the Altstadt made it through bombings unscathed.

Haus Wertheim has been serving hearty home-style cuisine since 1479, and it continues to do so today. As you'd expect, it's a popular tourist spot, so avoid visiting during weekends and public holidays when the restaurant gets particularly crowded.

Head to nearby Zum Standesämtchen for a quieter meal, and be sure to try the Schweinshaxe (roasted pork knuckle) and homemade sauerkraut.

Lunch in the square today, or if you aren't hungry yet, you can enjoy lunch in the other areas of Historic Downtown Frankfurt.

The epicenter of year-round family events is Breidert Green in historic downtown. Today you will enjoy downtown Frankfurt.

Dining: Signature white tablecloth restaurants, casual dining and libations, ice cream, sweets, a tea room, a coffee shop and picnic tables lining Breidert Green.

Shops: From upscale to eclectic, the boutiques and stores in downtown Frankfurt offer unique selections and personal service that you won't find at the shopping malls.

Discover: Quality children's clothing, art, women's shoes and accessories, home decor, dollhouse and garden accessories, products for pampered pets, counters lined with penny candy and a butcher shop.

Professional Services: Over 40 professional services are based in the historic district.

Afterwards, you will enjoy a private cooking class with one of the premier chefs of local German cooking. This is a unique interactive class with you and local experts preparing traditional German fare. Afterwards you will sit down with the chef for a private dinner.

Day 5 Frankfort: — Frankfort – Cologne – Frankfort

Breakfast in the Castle.

8:00am: After breakfast, meet your private English-speaking driver & Professional Local Guide in the lobby of your hotel for your full day tour of Cologne.

Upon arrival in Cologne, it's time for a break for a coffee or other beverage and to get your bearings a little in the Historic District of Cologne. First stop, the Cologne Cathedral. It is magnificent and you can enjoy the chapel, take a tour of the treasury or climb the 509 steps to the top of the Cathedral (A UNESCO World Heritage site & 2nd tallest building in Cologne) for the sweeping panoramas of the city. It takes an hour to climb to the top.

Afterwards, You will enjoy a private walking tour of the city's oldest area and see many of the wonderful elements of this city.

Lunch is on your own today and your guide will recommend dining options in the area.

After lunch, you have options for experiences in Cologne.

Option 1: Enjoy an interactive chocolate making experience at the Schokoladenmuseum (The chocolate Museum). Learn all about the history of cocoa and the process of turning this bitter bean into lovely bars of luxurious Lindt chocolate.

Once you're up to speed, grab a spatula in the museum's 'confiserie' and try your hand at crafting your very own sweet treats. Lessons last for about three hours. By the end you'll have a box of (hopefully) delicious bon-bons to snack on.

Option 2:

Enjoy a boat trip along the Rhine. The Rhine has been at the heart of Cologne for centuries, so you've got to sail along it to see the city from a different angle. Cruise by the historic old town, or get a glimpse of the super chic and modern Rheinauhafen district (see point 10) – boats take different routes with a number of pick-up and drop-off points, making it an enjoyable, unique and convenient way to see Cologne. Float through this cool city, enjoy a drink (soft or something a little stronger).

Option 3: Make your own perfume.

From the Rhine to bottled fragrances: Cologne is famous for its water.

You could just pick a souvenir bottle of Eau de Cologne off the shelf in a perfumerie, but why not craft your own unique formula for a highly personalized fragrance?

Visit 4711's flagship store and learn about the history of the city's famous export – they've been producing parfum for over 220 years, so they know a thing or two about it and can help you choose the right scent for you or someone special.

Design your own signature fragrance in a private workshop with one of their expert parfumières.
